GLOBAL SECURITY AND EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

at Arcadia University

Global Perspectives…Personal Attention…Real-World Integrative Learning Experiences

Faculty

Professor Emeritus
Dr. Norman Johnston
Associate Professor
Dr. John Noakes (Director)
Assistant Professors
Dr. Ana Maria Garcia (Chair)
Dr. Dina Pinsky
Instructor
Alex Otieno
Adjunct Professors
Joe Michaels
Dr. Denise Leifker
Alan Stewart

Degree/Concentrations

Bachelor of Arts in Global Security and Emergency Management

Minors
Anthropology
Criminal Justice
Sociology
Women's Studies
Global Security and Emergency Management

Concentration
Forensic Criminology

Options
Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Studies
Secondary Education Certification (in Social Studies)
Minors in other areas, such as Business Administration

Pathways to Study Abroad in Global Security and Emergency Management

A semester abroad can be incorporated easily into the Global Security and Emergency Management program and is strongly encouraged. Students are encouraged to explore study abroad options during the sophomore year or fall of the junior year.

A study abroad experience is invaluable for both the foundational focus on liberal arts as well as the major studies in Global Security and Emergency Management. Thinking comparatively and globally about security issues is essential for students who plan on working in the field.

More than 100 University-sponsored study abroad programs are available at some of the top universities around the world.

Visit the University's Web site for Pathways to Study Abroad (www.arcadia.edu/pathways) and suggested programs. Since it is important that students plan ahead for study abroad, they should consult with their advisers as soon as possible and make their intentions known to the Department Chair and the Director of International Services.

About the B.A. in Global Security and Emergency Management

- Preparation for careers in the fields of homeland security and emergency management
- Preparation for careers in social policy
- Preparation for graduate school
- Internships
- Concentration in Forensic Criminology
- Law Enforcement and Legal Processes course cluster
- International Affairs course cluster
- Opportunities to study abroad at some of the top universities in the world

The Global Security and Emergency Management program provides students with the conceptual and research knowledge necessary to think critically about issues of security, from the threat of terrorism to the sovereignty of the nation to recovery from natural disasters. The program views global security and emergency management as a field of critical inquiry in which issues and policies have global implications. Starting with the assumption that security is an important value for all people and nations, the major explores the implications of security policy and the consequences of both insecurity and the quest for increased security at home and abroad.

Courses in the major build a base of knowledge and construct a process of evaluation and critical inquiry that prepares students for both professional training or graduate-level education.

The major program of study is committed to a solid examination of the social and cultural nature of security and threat while introducing students to the fundamental issues and concepts of security and disaster. This includes an understanding of the relationship between national security and political sovereignty, democracy, and international cooperation. Students are encouraged to examine the intended and unintended consequences of the security apparatus and to think comparatively and globally about security issues.

Students are encouraged to engage in one of several opportunities to learn outside the classroom, including studying abroad, internships, and participating in an “Inside/Out” course that takes place in a Philadelphia County prison.

Required courses in Sociology and Political Science provide students with the ability to think analytically and scientifically about issues within a social science framework. Included in this understanding is an awareness of the social and political implications of immigration policy, international law, terrorism and other threats to security.

Bachelor of Arts in Global Security and Emergency Management

The Bachelor of Arts in Global Security and Emergency Management fosters an awareness of the various schools of thought and social theories on the origins, nature and extent of democracy, sovereignty, terrorism, and security. Courses stress the relationship between issues of national security and power, global inequality, and geopolitical change.

Requirements for the B.A. in Global Security and Emergency Management

(47-52 credits as listed here and Undergraduate Curriculum requirements and electives)

Common Curriculum
(30-32 credits as listed here)

1. Eight courses in Sociology/Criminal Justice/Global Security and Emergency Management/Political Science

CJ	160	Crime and Punishment
PS	2XX	Introduction to Security Studies (pending approval)
PS	2XX	Terrorism and Counter Terrorism (pending approval)
GS	2XX	Social Aspects of Disaster and Recovery pending approval)
CJ	375	Theories of Deviance and Criminality
SO	330	Research Methods I
SO	490	Senior Seminar I
SO	491	Senior Seminar II

2. One required course in Mathematics

MA	141	Elementary Statistics

3. Language courses through the 202 level.

4. Additional Requirements (20-24 credits)
   In addition to the core courses, students select three courses from the Law Enforcement and Legal Processes cluster and three courses from the International Studies cluster.

   Law Enforcement and Legal Processes Cluster:

BA	230	Legal Environment for Business
CJ	225	Criminal Investigation
CJ	226	Crime Scene Investigation and Reconstruction
CJ	250	Policing and Society
CJ	290	Surveillance and Social Control
PS	110	Law and Legal Process
PS	218	Criminal Law and Criminal Procedures

PS	220	American Constitutional Law
PS	311	International Law
PY	270	Forensic Psychology
SO	363	Internship

International Affairs Cluster:

AN	272	Cultures Conflict and Power
AN	361	Social Change: Globalization and Culture
BA	101	International Business
BA	232	International and Legal Issues for Business
CJ	275	Comparative Criminal Justice Systems
HS	110	The West in the World, From the Great Voyages of Discovery to 9/11
HS	211	The Modern Middle East
HS	228	America as Empire
HS	285	The Rise of the Islamic Empire in Middle East
IS	120	Global Public Health
IS	130	Coexistence and Conflict in the Mediterranean World
IS	160	Globalization, Development and Human Rights
IS	330	Social Life of War: Political, Cultural and Identity Process in Global Conflict
IS	320	Global Poverty and Inequality
PS	225	Politics of the Developing World
PS	240	United States Foreign Policy
PS	241	International Relations
PS	243	Introduction to Peace and Conflict Resolution
PS	370	International Human Rights
PS	385	International Security
US	207	Global Citizenship

With approval of the Director of the Global Security and Emergency Management major, students may be able to count other courses taken at Arcadia or elsewhere as electives toward completion of the major.

Requirements for the Minor in Global Security and Emergency Management

(21-24 credits as listed here)

1. Five courses from the Global Security and Emergency Management core:

CJ	160	Crime and Punishment
PS	270	Introduction to Security Studies
PS	275	Terrorism and Counter Terrorism
GS	280	Social Aspects of Disaster and Recovery
CJ	375	Theories of Deviance and Criminality

2. One elective from the Law Enforcement and Legal Processes cluster.

University Seminar Course (US)

207
Global Citizenship
(4 credits)

Global Security and Emergency Management Courses (GS)

Global Security and Emergency Management is an interdisciplinary major. Core course requirements include the following courses in other departments:

GS 251	Federal Law Enforcement (pending approval)
GS 271	Law, Citizenship and the Nation State (pending approval)
GS 281	Social Aspects of Disaster and Recovery (pending approval))